

SIR IAN MCKELLEN

SARAH MILES

Loving Walter

The greatest wisdom is sometimes found in the simplest minds.

"...(McKellen is) a true master..."

THE WASHINGTON POST

"Well acted, superbly filmed – and extremely harrowing."

LONDON EVENING STANDARD

DVD special features

- Exclusive Interviews with Sir Ian McKellen Director Stephen Frears and Writer David Cook
- Biographies
- Selected Filmographies
- Futile Treatments of the Mentally Ill
- Interactive Menus and Scene Selection

DVD

Cat. #30481-D
approx. 128 mins. col.
UPC 0-66805-30481-1
ISBN 0-7792-5481-3

$19.98 SRP

VHS

Cat. #30481-V
approx. 128 mins. col.
UPC 0-66805-20481-4
ISBN 0-7792-0481-6

$19.98 SRP

In the tradition of Forrest Gump and I Am Sam, Sir Ian McKellen (Gods and Monsters, The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring) gives a knockout performance as a mentally challenged man dealing with the harsh realities of the world.

Walter has always been a fighter, learning to read and write and even managing to hold down a humble job. When his parents die, however, Walter finds himself alone and confined to a forbidding psychiatric hospital. Years later, he dares to leave the familiar routine of the institution to make it in the world outside. Facing enormous challenges and with only his friend, June (Sarah Miles) for support, Walter is determined to create an independent life for himself.

Directed by Stephen Frears (Dangerous Liaisons) and based on David Cook's award-winning novel, Loving Walter is a profoundly moving film with a character impossible to forget.

